REFERENCES AND INDEX

A listing of references and other source material is provided at the end of this genealogy. An all-name Index is currently under construction and will be added at a later date.

DATES

For the most part, many conflicting dates were easily straightened out by simply rechecking the source material or official records. In some cases, however, marriage dates may vary from other published works because the researcher used the date of a marriage bond, or the date a marriage license was issued, instead of the actual marriage date. Even though some of the source material I used did not specify the origin of the marriage date given, I have tried to differentiate the marriage dates as accurately as possible. In a number of cases an approximate date of marriage, using the abbreviation "ca." for circa (about), is shown based upon information provided in various census documents.

Another dating problem involves the recording of marriage banns. A couple's intentions to marry, or banns of marriage, were generally proclaimed in church on three consecutive Sundays, and if no legal impediments precluded the couple from being married, their marriage would be sanctioned after the third proclamation. Unfortunately, the first or second proclamation will often be cited as the marriage date instead of the third. I must admit, however, that this is difficult to avoid in some cases because of missing or damaged records.

Death dates may also vary in that the date of burial, or the date a will was written or submitted for probate, will sometimes be cited by others instead of the actual death date. In those cases where I was unable to verify which of two dates was correct, I generally went with the one that referenced the most credible source material, or simply used the year only.

One of the most common dating conflicts involves the use of the Julian Calendar versus the Gregorian Calendar. On 14 September 1752, the Gregorian Calendar was adopted in both Great Britain and its colonies in North America, and the first day of the year then became January 1. Prior to that date, the Julian Calendar was in effect and the first day of the year was March 25. As a consequence, many dates found in the 1600's and first half of the 1700's for the months of January, February, and March reflect, or should reflect, a double date, such as 15 February 1735/1736. Even though both dates may be perfectly acceptable based upon the calendar that was in use at the time, to be consistent with current dating procedures the second date is most accurate.

When reading numerical Quaker dates from Meetings in the American colonies prior to 1752, it must be remembered that the calendar in use at that time by the Quakers was the Old Style, or Julian Calendar, which began the year in the month of March, not January. As a consequence, numerical dates found in most Quaker records can be interpreted as being two months off of our currently used New Style, or Gregorian Calendar, which was adopted in America in 1752. For example, a Quaker numerical date which may have been written as the 4th day of the 6th month, 1734 should be interpreted as 4 August 1734 under our current calendar, not 4 June 1734.

LOCATIONS

With respect to the location at which an event took place, there were many cases when it was not possible to find any record giving the exact location that a birth, marriage or death took place. Because I feel quite strongly that dates should always be accompanied by places, if for no other reason than to aid future research, I made a number of assumptions regarding location based upon available information. For instance, if a family is found in the Fayette County, Indiana census records for 1840 and 1850, and they also show up in the deed and tax records of that county for the same period, I did not feel that it was unreasonable to assume that any children they had during this period were probably also born in Fayette County. In some cases, however, my comfort level with assuming a possible location was limited to a state only.

THE ALLEN SURNAME

The name Allen (also Alan, Allan, and Allyn, etc.) comes from the Scottish word "Aluinn" meaning fair or handsome.

THE
DESCENDANTS OF GEORGE ALLEN
OF ENGLAND AND SANDWICH, MASSACHUSETTS

GENERATION ONE

1. George Allen. *

George Allen, the immigrant ancestor of many of the Allen families found in America today, arrived in Massachusetts Bay Colony on 6 May 1635 from England. George Allen's name, along with the names of those individuals he came with (106 in all), was found on a list of passengers who departed Weymouth, England for the New World on 20 March 1635. Unfortunately, the name of the ship they traveled aboard has never been determined. This party, which was under the leadership of the Rev. Joseph Hull, was granted leave on 8 July 1635 to settle at Wessaguscus Plantation by the General Court at Boston. Wessaguscus was soon given municipal rights, at which time it was renamed Weymouth, and its inhabitants were allowed representation in the General Court at Boston.

Although it is not known for sure, George Allen may have been born in either Somersetshire, or Dorsetshire, England, or have at least resided in one of these places prior to emigrating. Lending some support for this belief is the fact that the Rev. Joseph Hull, and many of the other families that emigrated with George, appear to have been from one of these shires.

Although George Allen is known to have married twice while still residing in England, the name of his first wife has not been determined. His second wife, however, was a woman named Katherine. Katherine accompanied George to America, and is believed to have been the mother of his five youngest children. According to the roster of passengers making up the Hull party, Katherine was listed as being thirty years old in 1635, thereby indicating that she had probably been born in about 1605 in England.

(NOTE: Although one commonly sees postings and family write-ups that indicate that our George Allen is the George Allen who married as his second wife, Katherine Starkes, on 5 November 1624 in All Hallows Church, Honey Lane, London, I know of absolutely no documentation that would support that this is the same George Allen. On the contrary, there is evidence that suggests that this George Allen was the son of Richard Allen of the Tower of London, and that he was still residing in London, England as late as 1640, when he was mentioned in his brother, Henry Allen's, will. This George Allen is also believed to be the same George Allen who died at St. Michael Queenhithe, London on 26 March 1664.

In addition to the above, it has also been accepted by some that our George Allen was the son of John Allen of Saltford in Somersetshire, England. As with the above assertion, there is absolutely no evidence that I know of to substantiate this. There is, however, strong evidence that indicates that this George Allen was still residing at Saltford in 1638, when he was involved in a court case regarding tenements in the Tything of Saltford. By 1638, our George Allen was already well established at Sandwich on Cape Cod. Aside from the fact that a person named George Allen was identified as living in Saltford, England during the 1630's, any connection to our George Allen appears to be based more on conjecture than supportable facts.

The same also appears to be true regarding the assertion that our George Allen was the son of Ralph Allen of Thurcaston, England. Even though there were two individuals named Ralph Allen who were associated with our George Allen in New Plymouth Colony, I am not aware of any evidence, other than name similarity, to support this contention either).

Although no records have been found to substantiate it, shortly after settling at Wessagusset (Weymouth), George Allen and his family may have moved to the village of Saugus, Massachusetts (now Lynn, Massachusetts). Sometime during the period 1637/1638, however, George and his family apparently moved again, this time to the newly organized settlement in New Plymouth Colony of Sandwich on Cape Cod. George, who was a farmer by trade, was subsequently recommended for "freeman" status in New Plymouth Colony on 5 March 1638/1639, and was later admitted as such on 3 September 1639. George was later sworn in as the Constable of Sandwich on 4 June 1639, and served as Surveyor of Highways in 1640. He also served as a Committeeman for the New Plymouth Court in 1640, 1641, 1642, and 1644.

George apparently died during the latter part of April 1648 at Sandwich in New Plymouth Colony, as he was subsequently buried there on 2 May 1648. His will was subsequently probated before the New Plymouth Court on 7 June 1648. One year later, on 8 June 1649, his widow, Katherine, furnished an inventory of George's estate to the New Plymouth Court. Sometime after George passed away, Katherine married for a second time to a man named John Collins, who was a shoemaker in Boston.

Although the identities of all of George's children have never been determined beyond all doubt, the names of eight children have been verified through various documents. In addition to these eight, it is highly probable that three other individuals, namely John, Robert, and Francis Allen, are also sons of George. Aside from those children that are known and very probable, some researchers also believe that the Joan Allen who married Clement Briggs at Dorchester in 1630/1631, and the Joshua Allen who married Mary Crowell at Yarmouth in 1671, are also George's children. After spending considerable time researching these two individuals, I am not convinced that they are George's children, and have therefore not included them in this genealogy.

It should also be mentioned that the "five least children" that George referred to in his will have not been verified beyond all doubt either. However, these children, who have been interpreted by most authorities to be the children George Allen had with his second wife, Katherine, are strongly believed to be Matthew, William, Henry, Samuel, and Gideon.

3. John Allen.

John Allen, undoubtedly a son of George Allen and his first wife, was born in about 1611 in England. (Note: probate records indicate he may have been born as early as 1605). He was later married in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts, possibly at Rehoboth, to a woman named Christian in about 1636. Prior to settling at Rehoboth, John held lands at Weymouth that were originally granted to his father, George Allen. John, along with his youngest half-brother, Gideon, and a number of others, is said to have been one of the original founders of Swansea in what is now Bristol County, Massachusetts.

John and Christian apparently resided at Swansea, Massachusetts for the remainder of their lives. John died at Swansea on 3 May 1690. His will, which had been written on 12 March 1689, was probated before the Bristol County Court on 27 May 1690. Although Christian is known to have survived John, the date and place of her death have not been determined.

4. Ralph Allen *

Ralph Allen, the son of George Allen and his first wife, is believed to have been born in about 1615 in England. Although it has not been determined when he arrived in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, it is known that he did not travel on the same ship as his father, George. This Ralph, who is known to have held lands at Waymouth that originally belonged to his father, George, later moved to Rehoboth in what is now Bristol County, Massachusetts. He eventually settled at Sandwich in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts, however, where his father lived.

According to available records, Ralph was generally referred to as a planter and wheelwright, and in certain documents he was also referred to as Ralph Allen, Sr., such as the burial record of his daughter, Mary, in 1675. This was apparently to distinguish him from the other Ralph Allen who resided at Sandwich, was married to a woman named Esther Swift, and was a mason by trade. Although Ralph is thought to have been married sometime around 1630-1635, it is not known at this time whether he married in England, or after he arrived in the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Our Ralph is believed to have been married to a woman named Susannah.

In 1657, while residing at Sandwich, Quakerism began spreading throughout the Colony, and Ralph and six of his brothers and sisters were apparently among the first to be "convinced." Unfortunately, the adoption of Quakerism by the Allen's resulted in their being persecuted and fined for many years for practicing their faith. Their persecution was particularly acute for refusing to take the Oath of Fidelity which they felt was unlawful.

During the years 1663 and 1664, Ralph purchased land at Dartmouth in the New Plymouth Colony (now within Bristol County, Massachusetts), which he later conveyed to his children. Even though he was living at Sandwich at the time of his death, it is believed that he and Susannah probably resided at Dartmouth for a few years. Ralph is mentioned in several deeds as being "of Dartmouth," and in 1684 he was involved in an agreement with three others to build a gristmill there.

Ralph Allen was purported to have died during the month of March 1698 at Sandwich in what had then become Barnstable County, Massachusetts. His will, which had been written on 18 December 1691, was probated before the Barnstable County Court on 1 July 1698. Ralph was subsequently buried, as directed by his will, "in the Friends Burying place at William Allen's in Sandwich."

With the exception of Philip, Benjamin, and Mary, the following children were named in Ralph's will. Philip and Benjamin, identified in the records as being sons of Ralph Allen, died in the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. Mary, on the other hand, died at Sandwich and was also identified as being the daughter of Ralph Allen. All three of these children died prior to Ralph writing his will. The exact order of birth of the below listed children is not known.

5. Robert Allen.

Robert Allen, undoubtedly a son of George Allen and his first wife, was born in England. In 1645, he is known to have served for thirteen days in the war against the Narragansett Indians. According to available New Plymouth Colony records, Robert, who appears to have remained single throughout his life, committed suicide on 15 May 1661 in the home of his elder brother, John, at Rehoboth in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Bristol County, Massachusetts).

6. George Allen.

George Allen, the son of George Allen and his first wife, was born in about 1619 in England. George was apparently married twice during his lifetime. He appears to have married first in about 1645 in Massachusetts to a woman named Hannah. After their marriage, George and Hannah made their home at Sandwich in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Barnstable County, Massachusetts).

According to various court records, George was fined on 8 June 1651 for failing to serve as a juror, and on 7 October 1651 both he and Hannah were fined for failure to attend public worship. George was also fined on several occasions for refusing to take the Oath of Fidelity to the King. In 1675, however, records indicate that George changed his mind and took the Oath of Fidelity.

Although the available land records indicate that George and Hannah purchased land in 1670 in that portion of the Province of East Jersey that was later formed into Monmouth County, New Jersey, they apparently never moved there. The majority of their children, however, eventually moved to New Jersey, settling in either Burlington County, or in the vicinity of Shrewsbury in Monmouth County. In 1683, George and Hannah's relationship with the Quakers of Sandwich became strained over the marriage of their daughter, Lydia, to Edward Wooley who was not a Quaker. Hannah subsequently died at Sandwich about two years later in 1685.

After Hannah passed away, George apparently married for a second time, also in Massachusetts, to a woman named Sarah in 1687. George was subsequently reprimanded by the Quakers for his marriage to Sarah who was not a Quaker, and later, on 3 June 1687, he acknowledged his wrongdoing. George died in 1693 at Sandwich in what had then become Barnstable County, Massachusetts. There were no issue from George's second marriage.

The birth dates of the first six children listed below were found in the Sandwich Quaker Church records and in the Sandwich Town records, although the year of birth differed in the Town records from the Quaker Church records in every case.

7. Francis Allen.

Francis Allen, believed to be a son of George Allen and his first wife, was born in England. In 1643, his name appears on the list of men from Sandwich, between the ages of sixteen and sixty, who were able to bear arms in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts. Francis was later married at Sandwich in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Barnstable County, Massachusetts) to a woman named Mary Besse on 20 July 1662. Mary was the daughter of Anthony and Jane Besse. After Mary's father passed away, her mother, Jane, married for a second time to the Sheriff of Sandwich, George Barlow.

Francis died at Sandwich in 1698. His will, which had been written on the 18th day, 12th month, 1695 (18 February 1695/1696), was subsequently probated in Barnstable County on 19 March 1697/1698.

8. Matthew Allen.

Matthew Allen, believed to be the son of George Allen and his second wife, Katherine, was born in about 1627 in England. Although Matthew was shown as being only six years of age in the list of passengers departing Weymouth, England on 20 March 1635, he was later shown on the list of men from Sandwich who were between the ages of sixteen and sixty and able to bear arms in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts. His brother, William, was not listed, however. This list had been compiled in 1643 and is believed to be more accurate than the passenger list. As such, the ages of Matthew (6) and his brother, William (8), are believed to have been reversed on the passenger list.

Matthew was latter married on 8 June 1657 in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts to a woman named Sarah Kirby. Sarah was the daughter of Richard Kirby. Sometime after their marriage, Matthew and Sarah settled at Dartmouth in Bristol County, Massachusetts. Matthew subsequently died at Dartmouth in 1695. His will, which had been written on 7 February 1688, was probated before the Bristol County Court on 23 May 1695.

9. William Allen.

William Allen, believed to be the son of George Allen and his second wife, Katherine, is thought to have been born in about 1629 in England. Although William Allen was shown as being eight years of age in the list of passengers departing Weymouth, England on 20 March 1635, he was not shown on the list of men from Sandwich who were between the ages of sixteen and sixty and able to bear arms in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts. His brother, Matthew, was listed, however. This list had been compiled in 1643 and is believed to be more accurate than the passenger list. As such, the ages of William (8) and his brother, Matthew (6), are believed to have been reversed on the passenger list.

William was latter married to a woman named Priscilla Brown in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts on 21 March 1650. Priscilla was the daughter of Peter Brown, a signer of the Pilgrim Compact, and his wife, the widow Martha Ford. William and Priscilla resided at Sandwich in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Barnstable County, Massachusetts) for the remainder of their lives.

Both William and Priscilla were very active and outspoken supporters of the Quaker movement, and over the years they were often fined for holding meetings and for entertaining visiting Quakers in their home. Aside from the monetary fines, William and Priscilla also had property seized, and on several occasions William had to endure whipping.

In one instance in 1661, Sheriff George Barlow of Sandwich went to William's home while William was in jail in Boston. Having already seized the majority of William and Priscilla's moveable property, Sheriff Barlow went into their home and took Priscilla's last cooking pot and bag of meal. Upon doing so he sneered; "Now Priscilla, how will thee cook for thy family and friends, thee has no kettle." Priscilla then replied; "George, that God who hears the young ravens when they cry will provide for them, I trust in that God, and I verily believe the time will come when thy necessity will be greater than mine."

William Allen died without issue on 1 October 1705 at Sandwich, Massachusetts in what had become Barnstable County, Massachusetts. His will, which had been written on 17 February 1697/1698, was subsequently probated in Barnstable County on 26 October 1705. Although Priscilla is believed to have died in Barnstable County also, the date of her death has not been determined.

10. Henry Allen.

Henry Allen is believed to be the son of George Allen and his second wife, Katherine. Although the actual date and place of Henry's birth have yet to be determined, it is believed that he was probably born in England. After his father, George, passed away, Henry resided with his mother, Katherine, and step-father, John Collins, at Boston. By a deed dated 10 July 1656, Henry, along with his brother, Samuel, sold their share of their father's land at Sandwich to their elder half-brother, George.

Henry was evidently married twice during his life. He married his first wife, Sarah Hill, in about 1662 at Milford, Connecticut (now within New Haven County, Connecticut). Sarah was the daughter of John and Frances Hill.

After Sarah passed away, Henry married for a second time to a woman named Rebecca (Sherwood) Rose at Stratford in Fairfield County, Connecticut. Rebecca was the widow of Robert Rose. Henry, who was a shoemaker by trade, died in 1690 at Stratford, Connecticut.

11. Samuel Allen.

Samuel Allen, believed to be the son of George Allen and his second wife, Katherine, was probably born in England. After his father, George, passed away, Samuel resided with his mother, Katherine, and step-father, John Collins, at Boston. By a deed dated 10 July 1656, Samuel, along with his brother, Henry, sold their inherited share of their father's land at Sandwich to their elder half-brother, George.

Although it is believed that Samuel probably married and had a family, no additional information has been found which pertains to him.

Along with his elder half-brother, John, and several other individuals, Gideon has been noted as being one of the original founders of the town of Swansea in what is now Bristol County, Massachusetts. Gideon later administered the estate of his step-father, John Collins, in 1670.

This second marriage was substantiated by a probate document dated 26 February 1711/1712, which dealt with the appraisal and settlement of John's estate. In this document, reference is made to "Rebecca Saunders, late widow of John Allen of Sandwich," and their three children, Isaac, Benjamin, and Judah.

He was subsequently buried on 27 February 1669 in the Clifton Graveyard at Newport in the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations (now within Newport County, Rhode Island).

29. Joseph Allen. *

Joseph Allen, the son of Ralph and Susannah Allen, was born in about 1642 in Massachusetts. Joseph was apparently married twice during his life. He married his first wife, Sarah Holloway (also written Holway), on 1 July 1662 in Massachusetts. Sarah, who was born at Sandwich in the New Plymouth Colony, was the daughter of Joseph Holloway and Rose Allen, and Joseph's cousin.

Joseph and Sarah were both Quakers and belonged to the Rhode Island Monthly Meeting of Friends. In the records of this Meeting were found the birth dates of their first six children. Sarah appears to have passed away in about 1675, shortly after the birth of their seventh child.

Joseph subsequently married for a second time, also in Massachusetts, to a widow named Sarah (Hull) Ridley in 1680. Sarah was the daughter of Tristram and Blanche Hull, and the widow of Mark Ridley. It appears that Joseph and Sarah lived at Dartmouth in what is now Bristol County, Massachusetts throughout much of their married life. According to available records, Joseph was one of the original proprietors of Dartmouth, owning a 1/34th share in the Township of Dartmouth.

During the period 1695-1700, Joseph acted as agent for the Dartmouth Proprietors in a dispute with the towns of Little Compton and Tiverton. In 1697, however, Joseph purchased property in Monmouth County, New Jersey, and at the time of his death he was building a home there. In various deeds, Joseph's occupation was listed as either a wheelwright, husbandman, or yeoman.

Joseph left two wills, one written in 1696 while he was residing at Dartmouth, and a second, written on 26 June 1704, which states that he was a resident of Shrewsbury in Monmouth County, New Jersey. Joseph died during the month of September 1704, probably at Shrewsbury. Both of Joseph's wills were subsequently probated before Samuel Cranston, the Governor of Rhode Island, on 11 October 1704. Joseph's widow, Sarah, is believed to have died shortly thereafter in 1705.

Judah Allen, the son of George and Hannah Allen, was born at Sandwich in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Barnstable County, Massachusetts) on 30 January 1650/1651. He was later married to a woman named Mary Wooley in Rhode Island. Mary, who had been born in 1657 at Newport in the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations (now within Newport County, Rhode Island), was the daughter of Emanuel Wooley and Elizabeth Freeman.

Judah and Mary eventually moved to the Province of East Jersey (now New Jersey), where they resided for the remainder of their lives. In 1680, Judah, along with John Hance, served as a Deputy for the town of Shrewsbury in the East Jersey Assembly. He was also appointed as a Tax Assessor for Shrewsbury on 5 December 1683.

On 9 July 1685, Judah and his brother, Ephraim, along with several other settlers, were given permission by the Lord Proprietor of the Province of East Jersey to acquire up to 2,500 acres of land from the local Indians. Judah's share of this acquisition consisted of 120 acres of land situated at Manasquan in what is now Wall Township in Monmouth County, New Jersey. He subsequently received a patent for this land on 16 February 1685/1686.

Judah Allen died at Shrewsbury in Monmouth County, New Jersey in 1689. His will, which had been written on 24 October 1689, was subsequently admitted for probate on 4 December 1689 before the Monmouth County Court. At the time of Judah's death, Mary is believed to have been pregnant with a fifth child, who was named Judah after his father.

After Judah passed away, Mary married for a second time to a man named Thomas Foreman at the Shrewsbury Monthly Meeting of Friends on 14 May 1695. The date and place of Mary's death are not known at this time.

Benjamin Allen, the son of Joseph Allen and his second wife, Sarah (Hull) Ridley, was born at Dartmouth in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Bristol County, Massachusetts) in about 1680. Benjamin eventually left Massachusetts and moved to Cecil County, Maryland, where he purchased approximately 900 acres of land on 29 November 1714. He later sold half of this land to his brother, Reuben Allen. Benjamin sold his remaining Cecil County property in 1729, at which time he is thought to have moved into the state of Pennsylvania.

In 1734, however, Benjamin Allen, together with Riley Moore and William White, moved to the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. During the following year, 1735, Benjamin purchased 290 acres of land from Joist Hite. This land was situated near Mt. Jackson in what is now Shenandoah County, Virginia. It was on this property that he later built his water grist mill. On 29 January 1739, Benjamin received a patent for an additional 400 acres of land that was situated on both sides of the North Branch of the Shenandoah River, and adjoined his other property.

Benjamin, who had remained single throughout his life, subsequently died intestate in about 1747 in that part of Augusta County that was later formed into Shenandoah County, Virginia.

117. Tristram Allen.

Tristram Allen, the son of Joseph Allen and his second wife, Sarah (Hull) Ridley, was born at Dartmouth in the New Plymouth Colony of Massachusetts (now within Bristol County, Massachusetts). Although it has yet to be proven, Tristram may possibly have been married to a woman named Mary. Even so, he is not believed to have had any children.

Tristram is known to have been residing in Monmouth County, New Jersey until sometime after 1719. He was found in the records of the Shrewsbury Monthly Meeting of Friends as a witness to two marriages taking place in 1704 and 1707. He was also mentioned in the will of his brother, Josiah, as living there. Even though Sarah and Jeremiah resided at Rochester in Plymouth County, Massachusetts for a time, they apparently remained closely connected with the Dartmouth settlement. Jeremiah died at Dartmouth on 29 November 1753. His will, which was written on 24 October 1753, was admitted for probate before the Bristol County Court on 29 January 1754. 121. Daniel Allen.

Daniel Allen, the son of Joseph Allen and his second wife, Sarah (Hull) Ridley, was born at Dartmouth in Bristol County, Massachusetts. Although it remains to be verified beyond doubt, this Daniel Allen is believed to be the same Daniel Allen who was married to Rebecca Newman in St. Joseph's Parish in Cecil County, Maryland on 9 February 1719/1720.

Daniel eventually moved into that portion of Orange County, Virginia that was later formed into Augusta County in 1745. The last document that was found which pertained to Daniel Allen was an Augusta County, Virginia Order Book entry that was dated 18 March 1746/1747. This entry pertained to the administration of his brother, Benjamin Allen's, estate. (NOTE: This individual requires additional research.)

122. Reuben Allen. *

Reuben Allen, the son of Joseph Allen and his second wife, Sarah (Hull) Ridley, was born in about 1694 at Dartmouth in Bristol County, Massachusetts. As a young man, Reuben moved to Cecil County, Maryland, where he joined his older brother, Benjamin Allen. On 29 November 1714, Benjamin had purchased 900 acres of land in Cecil County, and on 13 January 1719/1720, he sold 450 acres of this property to Reuben.

It is believed that Reuben was probably married in about 1720, as a property deed was found that was dated 16 January 1720/1721, which stated that he had a wife named Mary at that time. This deed conveyed Reuben's 1/12th interest in his half-brother, Josiah's, land to Benjamin Wilber after Josiah's death. Five years later, in June of 1726, Reuben sold his Cecil County, Maryland property to Herman Hinkey. By 1729, his brother, Benjamin, had also disposed of his land, and it is thought that they, along with their brother Daniel, may have moved into Pennsylvania at this time.

In 1734, Reuben and Mary moved into Virginia, however, settling near Mt. Jackson in the Shenandoah Valley. Seven years later, in 1741, Reuben passed away. He died intestate while still residing near Mt. Jackson in what was then Orange County, but is now Shenandoah County, Virginia. Mary, on the other hand, died in Orange County, Virginia in 1751. Although an accurate listing of all of Reuben and Mary's offspring has never been found, the below named children are either known, or strongly believed, to be theirs.

Note: In addition to the above Daniel Allen, who was married to Elizabeth Allen, the daughter of Richard Allen, there was another Daniel Allen, Elizabeth's brother, who was married to a woman named Elizabeth Hoxie. Both Daniel's were married at Sandwich in 1722. To differentiate these two Daniel's, the records refer to one as Daniel the younger/youngest, or as Daniel, Jr. Unfortunately, however, the records do not specify which Daniel this is. Because the above Daniel Allen is the son of a Daniel Allen, and because he was born nearly two years after Daniel Allen, son of Richard, I am assuming that the above Daniel Allen is Daniel, Jr. This assumption may be revised pending future research, however.
